THANK YOU!

VOTERS OF ROCHESTER

Thank you, Voters of Rochester, for your overwhelming support and confidence. It will be a great honor to serve you in this most historic year, the 300th anniversary of the founding of the town of Rochester.

We are in the midst of a significant period of transition and growth. How we react at this time will be most important in the years that are to follow.

I shall continue to devote the time necessary to understand the issues and problems that will face us. I will constantly research the information needed and seek all avenues of assistance for the town... Study all proposed legislation as to the effect it may have on our town. I shall continue to do my homework, so that the decisions I must make will be in the best interests of the town and its people... decisions that are fiscally responsible; decisions that are fair, taking into consideration the varying viewpoints, desires and needs of our community.

Most sincerely,

Julia S. Enroth

Bicycle Rodeo

On April 7 the Rochester Junior Girl Scout Troop #165 and the Police Department co-sponsored a Bicycle Rodeo.

After inspecting and registering 42 bikes, each participant rode through an obstacle course. Everyone was judged on their performance. There were three categories.

First and second grade winners were Chad Peters, first place; Scott Phillips, second place. Third and fourth grade winners were Tommy Normand, first place; John Charron, second place. Fifth and sixth grade winners were Nichole Champagne, first place; Jerry Charest, second place. The Police Department donated the trophies.

The Girl Scouts, while earning the Cyclist Badge, made Bicycle Safety posters for the event.

The highlight of the afternoon was a balloon release. The children inserted their name and address into balloons, and the balloons were filled with helium and released in mass. This was to celebrate Rochester's 300th birthday.

Selectmen's Meeting

Following the town election the Mattapoissett Board of Selectmen reorganized as follows: John DeCosta was voted chairman taking over the gavel from William Hubbard who was returned to his seat unopposed for a three-year term in the election. R. William Blasdale was voted clerk.

APPOINTMENTS

Mr. Alfred C. Pauline, Shellfish Constable, was appointed by Selectmen as a special police officer for a term to expire April 30,

Just as on "This Old House" surprises lay in store. As Mr. Cobb started to replace a section of rotten sill he discovered that all the sill had been encased in cement at the bottom which held the moisture and rotted out the entire sill. As he jacked up the whole house to replace the sill, the entire first floor, finished, underfloor and joists, fell into the cellar hole. This whole first floor had to be replaced before any other work could be accomplished. Mr. Cobb had wide boards for the new finished floor cut by a local box board company and used hand cut nails to fasten them down. The effect is of an original old wide board floor beautifully refinished. The seven room home is built around a huge central chimney into which six fireplaces feed. The kitchen fireplace is truly a masterpiece of the art. The back wall of the fireplace is fieldstone and the rest is of tiny antique brick. Mr. Cobb had a fire going both in the main fireplace and the Dutch oven at the right side. The room was cozy warm with the heat thrown from this central location and a black iron stove in the kitchen alcove beyond. The house is heated mostly with a wood stove in the cellar and the black iron cook stove, although it is equipped with a modern baseboard heating system. When the Dutch oven was heated sufficiently with the fire and embers, Mr. Cobb transferred the hot coals remaining to the main fireplace and roasted popovers in the oven. He said that the oven reached a temperature of between 300 and 400 degrees and would hold high heat for a matter of hours. The fireplace is a huge affair and the brick hearth is set in sand. be a huge towel rack is hinged to the wall. This rack was to hang a quilt over to deflect any draft. The colonial family would gather in front of the fire and the quilt would enclose the warmth around them. The wall surrounding the fireplace is paneled in ancient hard pine of wide cut board. This beautiful wood was the original floor of the attic. The Cobbs used all of the original wood to best advantage in their restoration.

Overhead the original huge pegged beams are exposed throughout the home. In the kitchen portion they are rough hewn but in the front two rooms they are smooth finished as if they had been planed. Examining the beams around the central chimney, one can see the masonry of the hearths for the bedroom fireplaces on the second floor.

The home is furnished with authentic antiques of the period. Mr. and Mrs. Cobb have made many trips to Sturbridge Village for ideas. He has also constructed a trestle table out of the shelving from the pantry which is surrounded by ladder back reproduction chairs copied from museum pieces by Cohasset. These chairs are the few furnishings not antique. At the far end of the kitchen stands a wooden hand loom. Curious implements are everywhere. On the table of the kitchen a wood apple peeler stands. The apple is impaled on a wooden spit, turned by a crank and a wooden parer with metal blade is guided by the other hand placed on a wooden rest. An old woodshed at the rear of the house collapsed when restoration began, so the Cobbs cleared it away and built a small kitchen on the foundation. This woodshed contained a 28 foot well which was incorporated into the new kitchen. Mr. Cobb made a barrel reel over the well and counterweighted the bucket so that the minimum effort is required to bring up the bucket full of water. From the beams of this room the Cobbs have festooned a display of ancient kitchen utensils that are testimony to years of Yankee ingenuity and development. One old egg beater, instead of vertical vanes, has a small propeller at the business end. Many other of the utensils would require explanation to solve the mystery of their use. Throughout the house, loving care has wrought the miracle of restoration in each small detail. The house stands as perfect as it was in the beginning and without doubt much more beautiful and practical. After years of great effort the Cobbs are happy with the result.

Would they do it again? Father, mother and son, they say emphatically, "No!" The energy expended, the tremendous effort comes but once in a lifetime. It takes great courage to tackle this kind of labor and win the battle and certainly the Cobbs have triumphed over time. All the members of the Historical Society were delighted with this hospitable visit. Too bad Thomas Swift himself couldn't have a look at the house he built.

We think he would be delighted.

Rochester 300

A meeting of the Rochester 300 Committee was held at the Town Hall Conference Room. David Hughes, representing the Firefighters' Association, reported on plans for the Firemen's Muster to take place on July 1, getting the Birthday month off to a lively start. The Muster will be preceded by a Motorcade of fire engines, old and new, with bells and sirens, starting at 10 A.M. from the Memorial School, and then proceeding throughout the entire town, waking up lazy sleepers and inviting everyone to follow them back to the school, where the muster will begin at 1 P.M. A reviewing stand will be set up in front of the fire station, where former fire chiefs will judge the best, the oldest and the oldest operable fire engine.

The muster will include four events - "wet hose", "dry hose", midnight alarm and a mystery event. Twenty-four towns have been invited to compete.

In other business, Mr. George Church volunteered to build a reviewing stand for the Rochester 300 Parade July 22. This stand will be in front of the Town Hall, and the judges will be chosen from the Selectmen of the surrounding towns. Some invited dignitaries have chosen to sit on

The Historical Society reported that all is in readiness for their Kite Festival on Sunday, April 22, at 2 o'clock, at the Old Rochester Regional High School. There are no restrictions at all in this event, and no fees, and nothing for sale. If you are completely broke, but can come up with a kite, please come. There are trophies, but only for homemade kites in five categories: Biggest, Prettiest, Best Flier, Most Original, and Best of Show. Judges are volunteers from the community with an interest in kites.

The Historical Society Photo contest is going slowly. We know there are some excellent photographers out there, and would like to set up a display of photographs at the Library. Please don't wait until the last months to enter your photo of "The Enduring Beauty of Rochester" to the Society.

The next meeting of Rochester 300 is Friday, April 20, at the Town Hall. Everyone is invited. T-Shirts, Plates and bumper sticker souvenirs are available at the meetings, with other souvenir items scheduled in the near future.

The New Bedford Show will be the final appearance for the "Spirit of '76". This Quartet was formed some 6 years ago and in this short time have qualified to compete at International competition in Kansas City, San Francisco, Philadelphia, and Cincinnati, and in their second year won the Northeast District Championship.

All this was done while maintaining responsible jobs and raising families and at the same time traveling 422 miles to rehearsals, sometimes twice a week during contest time.

"The Villagers" from Chicago are the 1976 Harmony Queens of Harmony, Inc. the female equivalent of SPEBSQSA. It seems sufficient to say that they're the Number One Women's Barbership Quartet in the United States.

This will be the first time ever for a local audience to see and hear a gals' quartet of top quality.

Supporting the visiting quartets will be the Harpoon Harmonizers Chorus and the Nautical Notes. Tickets for the Harmony Battle of the Sexes are available at the door or at The Lighthouse Christian Bookstore, 276 Union Street, New Bedford, telephone 997-1165.

The first comedy opera is "La Divina" by the young contemporary composer Thomas Pasatieri. It concerns the farewell performance of an aging star soprano who is suddenly overcome with fear of a future without the glamor of the spotlight. Indulged by her servants and her conductor, she is inspired by the crowd's adulation at her performance to sing yet one more farewell concert.

The cast for "La Divina" is: Britta Herz as Madama Altina, Catherine Grana as Cecily, Anthony Nunes as Haeman, and Douglas Medeiros as the young conductor.

The second one-act production is a hilarious musical piece by Mozart, "The Impresario". Two singing stars meet in a manager's office, and their encounter leads to an inside look at the personality clashes, jealousies, and pay-offs of the artist-manager profession. The score is filled with charming melodies and strewn with high E's and F's above high C. The opera is seldom performed because of the

Now there are two ways to avoid accidental overdrafts.

For some time, we've offered Maxichек, a cash reserve of $500 to $2500, which we can add to any Plymouth-Home checking account. It's proven to be a good way to transfer money into a checking account as protection against inadvertent overdrafts. With Maxichек, it's also possible to borrow from yourself, whenever you need extra money, just by writing a regular check and repaying in monthly installments.

Now, you have a new option at Plymouth-Home. Because we can transfer money from your savings account into your checking account,* whenever it's needed. Once you authorize such transfers, you'll never have to worry about overdrafts again.

For more information on how these options automatically restore your balance and help you avoid embarrassment, stop in at our nearest office, or call us at 583-6700.

WHALE Auction

OVER $14,000 FOR WHALE

The March 31st 3rd Annual WHALE Auction was a great success; that's how people seemed to feel as they carried their new possessions out of the First Baptist Church in New Bedford.

Father and son had bid against each other for the solar battery charger; a South Dartmouth woman had arrived just in time to buy the tablecloth she had admired at the Preview Party; one persistent bidder had assembled an entire dining room set -- chairs, table, sideboard, all matching -- in three separate purchases; the crowd had applauded the chimney sweep in tails and top hat, then bid eagerly; a woman gasped as the object she'd contributed went for a good price to a local antique dealer.

By late Saturday afternoon, the Auction was over for another year, and WHALE (Waterfront Historic Area League) had earned well over $14,000. Auction Chairperson Anne Brengle, reporting that the funds would augment WHALE's operating budget, expressed pleasure at the generosity of contributors and bidders alike and at the number of people who'd become involved in WHALE through the auction.

However, work is not yet over for auction workers. During the next few weeks, they must record the purchases and acknowledge all donations of goods and services. And, of course, they must begin planning for next year's auction.
